A Brief report of the overall event:

The NSS Unit of Sophia College organized an Online 30 hour course on Entrepreneurship supported by RUSA. The course comprised 10 diverse skill development courses along with an introductory session by NSS P.O. Dr. Vaishali Pachunde to brief the students regarding the course. The skill development courses were on embroidery, bead jewellery making, stroke painting, soap making, perfume making, sanitizer making, floral drinks making, gardening, xeriscape and terrarium making. Each of these sessions was taught by an experienced resource person having knowledge in the respective field. To encourage students to take part in the course attractive messages including a brochure were sent regularly on social media platforms like whatsapp and instagram. Resource persons taught each of these skills in great detail, with patience and precision, assignments were given to students who attended the sessions and are to be submitted once the college reopens after Diwali break. Students thoroughly enjoyed the sessions, got to learn more, be more creative and was only a good opportunity for all to explore skills beyond academics. This event would have never been possible without the constant support and guidance of Sophia College's Principal DR. Anagha Tendulkar Patil and the NSS PO. Dr. Vaishali Pachunde, the NSS Unit of Sophia College will be forever grateful to them.

Beneficiaries response:

Good opportunity provided by the NSS Unit to make the most of the Diwali break. Got to learn many skills which we also thought of but never had the resources. Got to learn so many skills which will be helpful throughout life.

Trace:

This is the point when the oils and lye water are emulsified.

Emulsification/Emulsify: Emulsification is when the oils and lye solution have mixed, and will not separate from each other. The terms emulsify and trace are often used interchangeably.

At thin trace, there will be no streaks of oil and the soap will be the consistency of thin cake batter. As the soap sits, it will continue to thicken to medium and thick trace.

Hard oils form trace quickly as compared to liquid oils.
